Temple Beth Emet Casino Royale

Want a fun way to spend an evening while helping the community and raising money for charity? Temple Beth Emet Parent Teacher Organization is hosting its annual gala fundraiser "Casino Royale: Where the Stakes are Chai" on May 16th to raise much needed funds for its Early Childhood Center and Day School. This year's gala, sponsored by "A HOT PARTY" and Mercedes Benz of Pembroke Pines, will also benefit three local charities: Autism Speaks, I Care - I Cure, and ELEM.

Temple Beth Emet was founded in 1976 by fifteen families who sought to find a link to Judaism. They moved in to their current home on Flamingo Road in late 2000 and allowed the Temple to further grow their Early Childhood Center, religious school and their day school. Temple Beth Emet currently boasts the largest Religious School in Broward County as well as a nationally accredited, award winning Early Childhood Center. Under the guidance of Rabbi Greenspon, the congregation is open and caring and provides a variety of enriching programs and services for the Jewish community.

Whether you love Texas Hold-'Em or want to get involved in the community, this event will appeal to everyone with silent and live auctions, raffles, dancing, dinner, dessert, open bar from Haute Cuisine Caterers and of course gaming. Co-chair Lana Eichel promises this will be one incredible evening which you need to put on your calendar. Prizes include hotel accommodations, event tickets and gift certificates from local businesses.
