

Temple Beth Emet

Temple Beth Emet in partnership with Nova University’s Farquhar College of Arts and Sciences, invites the community to attend free simulcasts of “Live from NY’s 92nd Street Y™,” a series of talks featuring notable authors, actors, and more.

Throughout the spring, Temple Beth Emet will host viewings of the talks as they happen live from New York’s 92nd Street Y, a multi-faceted cultural and community center. In addition to the keynote talks, faculty members from the Farquhar College of Arts and Sciences or David Gutterman, a Senior Community Scholar of Yeshiva University, from Boca Raton or Temple Beth Emet’s Rabbi Greenspon will speak at these local events, providing perspective on the various topics discussed throughout the series. Refreshments will be served at each program. If possible, please RSVP when reminders are emailed so that we know how many will attend each program.

	Rabbi Capers Funnye In Conversation with Ari L. Goldman Tue, Mar 2, 2010, 8:15pm Rabbi Capers Funnye, Michelle Obama's first cousin, holds a pulpit on the South Side of Chicago and is the first African American rabbi to serve on the Chicago Board of Rabbis. Hear about his journey to Judaism and to the rabbinate, his work in Africa with groups exploring their ancient Jewish roots and about Black Jewish communities in America, as well as a few inside stories about the First Family.
	An Evening with Matisyahu Tue, Mar 16, 2010, 8:00pm Thane Rosenbaum, moderator Cultural icon Matisyahu, whose blend of Hasidic, reggae and hip hop music has sold millions of records and garnered fans around the world, makes his first visit to the 92nd Street Y to discuss his development as an artist, his latest record, Light and the fusion of his various musical styles.

Jon Meacham & Fareed Zakaria: America & World Affairs

Wed, Mar 17, 2010, 8:00pm

For the first time, Jon Meacham, editor of Newsweek and Fareed Zakaria, editor of Newsweek International appear together on our stage to discuss America's role in the world. Jon Meacham is the editor of Newsweek and the author of Franklin and Winston and American Lion: Andrew Jackson in the White House, which won the Pulitzer Prize for Biography. Fareed Zakaria is the editor of Newsweek International. His stories and columns on subjects from globalization and emerging markets to the Middle East and America's role in the world reach more than 25 million readers weekly. He is also the host of the weekly international news program, Fareed Zakaria GPS, which airs on CNN. His most recent book is the national bestseller, The Post-American World.

A World in Crisis: What Are Our Moral Obligations? with Elie Wiesel

Thu, Apr 15, 2010, 8:00pm

Explore the obligations of humans in general, and the Jewish community in particular, in responding to the crises around us—from the Israeli-Palestinian conflict to the looming threat of a nuclear-armed Iran, from an unstable Pakistan to genocide in Africa.

Food on the Tube: How TV Shapes the Way We Think About Food

Mon, Apr 26, 2010, 8:00pm

Alexandra Leaf, moderator

Does watching culinary programming on TV make us better cooks? Join Padma Lakshmi, co-host of Top Chef, and food writer Amanda Hesser for an enlightening discussion of the world of cooking shows, including what they tell us about ourselves as cooks and people and what they teach us about society today. Other panelists include Kathleen Collins (author, Watching What We Eat: The Evolution of Television Cooking Shows) and Charlie Trotter (host, PBS's The Kitchen Sessions.)

Jeffrey R. Immelt: Captains of Industry

Thu, May 6, 2010, 8:00pm

Stephen J. Adler, moderator

Now in its 11th year, the 92nd St Y's Captains of Industry series, hosted by BusinessWeek Editor in Chief Stephen J. Adler, consists of interviews with leaders in the world of business. This year, in particular, focuses on how to navigate uncertainty and restore the strength of American business. Jeffrey R. Immelt, the CEO of General Electric since 2001, has been named one of the "World's Best CEO's" by Barron's three times.